Krause-Elliott Wedding Rites

A pretty wedding of interest took place Christmas Eve at 7 o'clock at the United Church Parsonage, Champion, when Margaret Lorena Elliott became the bride of George Krause, both of Edmonton, Alberta. The Rev. Peter Dawson performed the ceremony.

The setting for the wedding was picturesque with a cluster of bells hanging from the archway, and a gaily decorated Christmas tree in the background, and other beautiful decorations throughout the room.

The bride chose for her wedding a soft dove grey crepe ensemble styled with a pointed leplum of grey satin and an off the face hat en tone, trimmed in gold braid with finger point veil, with grey accessories to match, and a shoulder corsage of deep red rose buds and bouvardia. Her only jewelry was the groom's gift of a chataleine pin.

Mrs. G. Urquhart of Kirkealdy, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and was attired in a royal blue crepe ensemble with sequin trim and matching accessories, and a corsage of deep red roses. Mr. G. Urquhart attended the groom.

A reception was held Christmas Day at 2 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. Urquhart, Kirkealdy, for the bride and groom with only relatives attending. Covers were laid for sixteen and a three tier wedding cake was the centre of the bride's table flanked on each side by pointsettias and tapers. A toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. H. Higgins. The groom responded.

From 5 o'clock until 11 o'clock about fifty friends and neighbors including old friends from Champion, called to extend well wishes to Mr. and Mrs. G. Krause at the Urquhart farm.

The newlyweds left on Friday to take up residence in Edmonton where Mr. Krause is employed by Ogilvie Flour Mills. They will be at home to their friends at the Belmont Bldg., 95th St.

BETTER THAN A MINK COAT

Little Stephen Andrews, 4, cuddles up to his collie pup, "Snowball," in his Hermantville, Md., home, just as "Snowball" cuddled up to him with his other dog when Stephen was lost in the woods near his home. The dogs are credited with saving the youngster from freezing during the night he spent in the wood while a posse of 50 sailors and marines and 150 civilians were searching for him. The searchers themselves managed to get lost before they found the boy.

Capacity Crowd At Elks' Dance

The Oddfellows hall was packed to capacity New Year's Eve when over four hundred town and district residents attended the Elks annual New Year's Eve dance.

Music was supplied by the Merry-makers and paper hats, novelties and noisemakers added to the gaiety of the occasion.

Net profits from the dance amounting to $192.00 will be donated by the Elks Lodge to the Athletic and Cultural Association and Girl Cadettes.

Reid Hill W.I. Protest Feed Cost

The December meeting of the Reid Hill W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. Ross Walker, Wednesday, December 16th, with a fair attendance of members. Singing of O'Canada, Salute to the Flag and repeating of the Creed opened the meeting and Roll Call was answered with Christmas verses.

Mrs. Ross Walker, who has been appointed to represent the W.I. at a meeting of the Hospital Board gave her report, and a delegation was named to attend the annual meeting of same. A report was sent by Mrs. Thomas regarding the receipt of another letter from the family in England which the branch has "adopted." The writer of the letter expressed her deep gratitude for the clothing parcel which had been sent her. Plans were made for members to bring any good used, clean clothing they can spare to the next meeting, to be sent to this family.

A committee of two was named to attend to the wording of a wire of protest to Mr. Gardner, the Federal Minister of Agriculture regarding the present high cost of feed, and requesting that the price of livestock be brought in line with the existing high cost of production.

The matter of joining a Consumers' organization now being formed, was tabled until the next meeting.

Drawing of names for Sunshine Friends for the coming year was held. A Christmas Pie, in which members exchanged small gifts was a feature of the afternoon's entertainment.

A delicious lunch served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. P. Bowie brought the occasion to a happy conclusion. The tea draw was won by Mrs. P. Bowie.

The January meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. A. Sales, on Thursday, 8th.

SMALL HOME INDUSTRIES

(From High River Times)

A British woman, speaking recently in town on the daily life of the British housewife, referred to an interesting though little mentioned phase of the British economy. This is industrial work done in the home by housewives.

As she described it, markets had been found for various articles of British factory make, but much of the pre-war equipment, formerly used in such manufacture, had been destroyed or otherwise rendered unequal to the work during war years. In an effort to meet requirements of that vital export market an appeal had gone forth to all British housewives with special skills in needle work or handicraft. Those who passed the tests required became accredited workers and were finally given the choice materials reserved for export sales. It was a joy to work with such materials, and these women, skilled in homely crafts, had the additional satisfaction of knowing they were helping to restore their country's lapsed export trade. According to the speaker, the whole project had proved a wonderful stimulant to home-keeping women. It had made them wage earners in a small way, and there was public appreciation of the national importance of the work they were doing.

It was a cheering and admirable picture of national endeavor; an endeavor which may enter the humblest home making the lowly as well as the great feel that their effort is worth while in lifting the country out of its present state of stark self-denial.

It seems a simple matter under the necessities of war to mobilize and make effective use of all human resources of a country. It is much rarer to see the same indomitable spirit flourishing in times of peace. The "inner strength" which carried Britain through the unimaginable ordeals of war is still triumphant. It is carrying the people through the no less stern experience of post-war restoration. During the war practically all energy was consumed in rebuilding and destroying the enemy. At the present time that same energy of a war-worn people is dedicated to the no less urgent purpose of rebuilding the national economy. Surely success will reward a country in which the skill of every individual is important, and everyone is ready to play some active part.

In the proposal that natural gas from Alberta be piped to supply fuel for Saskatchewan, the Brooks Bulletin says: "We would suggest, that the Alberta government should levy a tax on any Alberta gas supplied to the province of Saskatchewan. This would be in retaliation for the action of the Saskatchewan government in the export of pottery clay from that province into Alberta."

HOLD STEADY

ADVICE contained in the agricultural page of the Lethbridge Herald is based on many years of close study of farm fortunes in Southern Alberta. In this week's issue, one column suggests that farmers play safe in planning their next year's crop. The article says:

"If Western farmers were to follow the price scale in their production program next year would see rye, flax and wheat sown in greatly increased acreages while the coarse grains, oats and barley, would be very much in the discard. And that would be bad business."

"Canada's whole livestock, dairying and poultry program is based upon the coarse grains, hay and pasture, and in the total income return runs as high as the income from grain. It would be a sorry day for Canada if we sloughed off our livestock enterprise in favor of straight cereals and flax. It is going to require some sound thinking on the part of the farm population to keep the farm program straight in the face of present wide variation in prices. For instance, a 20-bushel crop of wheat will bring $35, but a 30-bushel crop of barley will bring only $25, while a 10-bushel crop of flax will bring nearly $50. Yet the farmer knows that in the long run, livestock and the coarse grains to feed them are his finest anchor and the way to good farming."

"We hear there is just a bit of a tendency to speculate in land now that we have $2 wheat for 1948. Remember what $2.25 wheat did to us in the early twenties. Lots of farmers loaded up with land which they were going to pay for in a couple of crops at that price. And they held it all through the twenties and the thirties and never got from under until the war came along."

It's better to play safe, and that's what a majority of farmers will do next year. Their cropping program will follow the course of the past 20 years. That's sound."

Educational-Vocational Questions and Answers

Department of Veterans' Affairs Today answered the ten questions most frequently asked by Alberta veterans about Educational and Vocational Training.

Q.—Can a man apply for vocational training after December 31, 1947?

A.—Only under exceptional circumstances. For the great majority of veterans December 31, 1947, is the late date on which they can apply for vocational training.

Q.—May a veteran who has taken vocational training apply for qualification under the Veterans' Land Act?

A.—Yes. If a veteran has spent his re-establishment credit, is he still eligible for vocational training?

A.—A veteran may repay the re-establishment credit he has spent, making the cheque payable to the Receiver General of Canada and by so doing, make himself eligible for vocational training.

Q.—Is training-on-the-job still available for veterans?

A.—Yes, but application can only be made up to December 31, 1947, for training under direct employment.

Q.—How many veterans have received vocational training since the end of the war?

A.—Close to 6,600 veterans in Alberta have completed vocational training and there are still approximately 1,000 receiving such training.

Q.—What is the maximum entitlement to university training of the individual veteran student?

A.—By recommendation and approval of the District Rehabilitation Board, a student veteran may be granted one month of educational training with payment of fees and allowances for each month spent in the services.

Q.—Are there any circumstances under which a veteran student at university may be granted training beyond his period of entitlement as defined above?

A.—If a student has an academic record sufficiently high to warrant a favourable recommendation from the University Scholarship Committee, his training allowances may be paid on a year-to-year basis until completion of his original training program.

Q.—Must supplemental examinations be written before a student veteran may proceed with the next year of his university training?

A.—Yes. All supplemental examinations must be written, together with any deferred examinations, before the student veteran is permitted to proceed with his training under allowances provided by the Veterans' Rehabilitation Act.

Q.—Is university training ever approved in universities outside Canada, and if so, under what circumstances is such approval granted?

A.—Yes. If the training required by the candidate is not available in this country and conclusive evidence of its non-availability is produced by the student veteran, his training in a university outside Canada may be authorized if approved by Head Office of the Department of Veterans' Affairs.

Q.—If a veteran student fails his year at university, is there any possibility of his further training under DVA allowances?

A.—Yes, there are two possibilities. In the first place, he may repeat the year at his own expense; on completion of the repeated year his case is considered by the Scholarship Committee in conjunction with the District Rehabilitation Board, and if he has successful indication of being competent to proceed with his training program he may be reinstated on allowances. Secondly, if he has attended university and pre-matriculation school for a total period of less than nine months, he may be eligible for courses under vocational training provisions of the Rehabilitation Act.

Three Men Testify

All "Co-op" Officials

All favour keeping Grain Exchanges open

Read what two of them said before United States Congressional Committee on December 4th and what Mr. Davis said in St. Louis recently.

Testimony of Mr. Herman Skyberg:

Mr. Herman Skyberg, President of the Farmers' Co-operative Marketing Association of East Grand Forks, Minnesota, said,

"With the present marketing system (i.e. Grain Exchange and 'futures' markets) we have protection and do not have to carry the risk. As our manager buys grain from farmer members he sells 'futures' in the Minneapolis Grain Exchange. This gives us security and insurance. His co-operative favoured continuance of open markets and 'futures' trading. Therefore his directors had unanimously approved of his attendance at the Congressional hearing to express their wish that this satisfactory outlet for their grain be continued in operation."

Remember—his co-operative members received double the price co-operative members got in Canada, where the wheat price is controlled by Government.

Testimony of Mr. Roy Crawford:

Mr. Roy Crawford, General Manager of a large Kansas Co-operative with 250 locals said,

"The 'futures' market of the Grain Exchanges (in our case principally Kansas City and to some extent Chicago) are vital cogs in the marketing machinery of the present distributive system which we use in disposing of the farmers' grain."

Mr. Crawford said his members did not favour closing what is sometimes called "The Speculative Market" because, he added,

"The speculator gives to their markets, breadth and liquidity and that the grain 'Futures' market provides buying power by concentrating in one general market place, demand from all sources, including the Millers, the Processors, domestic dealers, exporters and the individual risk dealers or speculators."

Statement of Mr. John H. Davis:

Speaking in St. Louis recently, John H. Davis, Executive Vice-President of National Council of Co-operatives, said,

"The principle role of government in a long-range agricultural policy should be to assist in research, education and adjustment. We should depend on free enterprise to provide the markets. We can't call it a free market when the government maintains production restrictions and price controls on agricultural products. The government's function of adjustment is maintaining the mechanism of controls and subsidies for us in an emergency such as occurred in 1933. However, we hope to stay as far away as possible from restriction of production and subsidizing of prices."

Space does not permit printing the full testimony. If you wish to have it, mail Coupon below

Despite these testimonies the Canadian "Pools" want to close the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, although between them, they own ten memberships in it. And their members are actively trading in the "futures" market for coarse grains every day. Does this make sense to you, Mr. Farmer? The simple fact is that the Leaders of the Pools want to close the Exchange to get a vice-like monopoly control.

Farmers are cordially invited to visit the Exchange during trading hours, 9:30 to 1:15 p.m. Ask to see the President or Secretary, or any other member. Ask questions. Straight answers will be given.

All our members favour a "floor" price for wheat administered by the Canadian Wheat Board. But they also believe that farmers should have the opportunity to get top world prices NOW, through open markets, while prices are high.

The more farmers know about the Exchange, the better it will be for all concerned. Meantime mail the coupon below for booklet explaining the Canadian Wheat Board Act and how you are regulated and controlled by it, in its present form.

MR. FARMER—
